GUIDE TO BYLINES IN RESEARCH PUBLICATIONS

INTRODUCTION

These brief guidelines are to help ensure consistency of addresses used in bylines of research publications from across the breadth of MQ Health.

Such guidelines are necessary because of the diverse component parts of MQ Health: the Faculty of Medicine, Health and Human Sciences – including increasing numbers of research centres – and MQ Health Pty Ltd, which comprises Macquarie University Hospital and the various clinics that are part of or associated with MQ Health.

GUIDELINES

Staff of the Faculty of Medicine, Health and Human Sciences

Staff and research students within the Faculty of Medicine, Health and Human Sciences should publish under the relevant department or school, or centre in the case of the Australian Institute of Health Innovation (AIHI), which functions as a ‘department’ for these purposes. For example:

- Department of Linguistics, Faculty of Medicine, Health and Human Sciences, Macquarie University, Sydney, NSW, Australia
- School of Psychological Sciences, Faculty of Medicine, Health and Human Sciences, Macquarie University, Sydney, NSW, Australia
- Centre for Health Informatics, Australian Institute for Health Innovation (AIHI), Macquarie University, Sydney, NSW, Australia

Honoraries (whether visiting, honorary, clinical honorary or conjoint) should publish any Macquarie-related research with the appropriate department, school or centre byline as illustrated by the examples above.

If faculty staff or research students are affiliated with a university or faculty research centre, then they should include both their departmental and centre bylines if the publication also arises from centre research. For example:

- Macquarie Medical School and Macquarie University Centre for Motor Neuron Disease Research, Faculty of Medicine, Health and Human Sciences, Macquarie University, Sydney, NSW, Australia
- Dementia Research Centre and Macquarie Medical School, Faculty of Medicine, Health and Human Sciences, Macquarie University, Sydney, NSW, Australia
- Centre for Emotional Health and School of Psychological Sciences, Faculty of Medicine, Health and Human Sciences, Macquarie University, Sydney, NSW, Australia

Employees of MQ Health Pty Ltd

Clinical employees of MQ Health Pty Ltd will have conjoint honorary roles with the relevant department or school in the Faculty of Medicine, Health and Human Sciences (typically Macquarie Medical School) and should publish research work under their department or school affiliation. For example:

- Macquarie Medical School, Faculty of Medicine, Health and Human Sciences, Macquarie University, Sydney, NSW, Australia
- Department of Health Sciences, Faculty of Medicine, Health and Human Sciences, Macquarie University, Sydney, NSW, Australia

As noted for staff of the faculty, if clinical employees of MQ Health are affiliated with a research centre then they should include both their departmental and centre bylines if the publication also arises from centre research. Please see the examples above.
Any professional staff members of MQ Health Pty Ltd appearing as authors on research publications and who do not have departmental affiliations should use a general MQ Health byline:

- MQ Health, Macquarie University, Sydney, NSW, Australia

Accredited practitioners of Macquarie University Hospital who wish to conduct research within the hospital, clinics and/or faculty should have an honorary role (e.g., clinical honorary) with the relevant department or school of the faculty. They should publish any Macquarie-related work with the appropriate departmental or school byline. For example:

- Macquarie Medical School, Faculty of Medicine, Health and Human Sciences, Macquarie University, Sydney, NSW, Australia

Any accredited practitioners within Macquarie University Hospital who do not have an honorary appointment with the faculty but wish to do research within the hospital and/or clinics should contact the Clinical Research Manager, Dr Yordanka Krastev (yordanka.krastev@mq.edu.au), to discuss their interests.
